

Strange Town: Volunteer Drama Workshop Assistants

Strange Town is looking for volunteer assistants for their weekly after school drama workshops. The volunteers will aid the tutors in the delivery of the weekly workshops that will take place during term time.

As a volunteer, we would ask you to sign up for a term (approx. 10 weeks) or more, and you would then work once a week with the tutor throughout this time, developing skills as necessary. We are able to pay travel expenses and as the role requires a PVG we would arrange this for you.

We are looking for individuals who are currently studying or have experience in drama, and/or who are keen to gain work experience with children and young people in a drama workshop setting.

If this is something that you would like to be considered for, please email admin@strangetown.org.uk, stating why you are interested in this position.
